

Editor's note

May Day is just around the corner and finally the Summer weather has hit Cyprus. The selling season is now well underway and we have had some notable successes. The pace is furious and most of the interest is from UK, Russia and Israel.

Our featured property this month has had 3 viewings in the space of its first week on the market. At the other end of the scale we are also now seeing some interest in the €1m + villas at Aphrodite Hills.

If you are in Paphos 15th to 20th June and you like classical music then the 17th International Pharos Chamber Music Festival at the crypt of the Manor House in Kouklia is a must for you. This is always a popular event so book early. 6 Nights of performances by world class musicians at the top of their game, in a wonderful setting. Don't forget also Aphrodite Hills hosts its May Day market on Monday 1st May starting at 10am. Don't miss it!

Pafos 2017

The Pafos2017 organization starts the month of May with a Philharmonic Bang! Tickets for the long awaited Berlin Philharmonic Orchestra concert sold out almost immediately after they went on sale. Every year on the 1st of May, The Berlin Philharmonic organises it's European Concert. This year, we have the privilege of hosting them in Pafos. Albeit a hard act to follow, May does not disappoint with the myriad selection of activities and events: Read More

Paphos Marina

With constantly changing updates about the progress of the development of Paphos Marina, we hope this is the final one. Further delays have taken place as the winning consortium Poseidon has been found lacking in certain terms of the competition, leading to runner-up development company Pafilia being called to submit paperwork to take over.
